Reflection Questions

- In Passage A, verbs 1 (Piel) and 2 (Pual) come from the same root קָרַב. The root has R2=ר, which rejects Dagesh Forte. How does the Pual compensate for the missing dagesh, and why does this make the Pual and Piel of קָרַב harder to distinguish than strong-root counterparts?
- Verb 3 (רָאָה, Hophal) and verb 14 (כִּבְדֹּתַנִּי, Pual) both express passive meaning. What is the key visual feature that distinguishes a Hophal from a Pual? What does each stem tell you about the corresponding active stem?
- Verbs 10 (Piel Weqatal) and 12 (Niphal Impf.) from Exo 29:37 use the same root שָׁדַק. The priest actively consecrates (Piel); then whatever touches becomes holy (Niphal). How does this passage illustrate the Piel-as-cause / Niphal-as-resulting-state distinction?
